Through papermaking workshops veterans use their uniforms worn in combat to create cathartic works of art. The uniforms are cut up, processed and formed into sheets of paper. Veterans use the transformative process of papermaking to reclaim their uniform as art and begin to embrace their experiences as a soldier in war.

The Combat Paper Project is based out of Green Door Studio in Burlington, VT and has traveled throughout the United States and internationally. This project is a collaboration initiated by Drew Matott and Drew Cameron, made possible by a multifaceted collaboration among citizens, artists, art collectors, academic institutions, therapists and veterans.
